

Capital One Hall FAQ

1. If an organization applies for use of the Hall, is the organization then obligated for those dates?

Organizations do not enter an obligation to use the space until the use license agreement is signed in 2022.

2. What are the fees for equipment such as use of the grand piano, choral risers, marley dance floor, and projection equipment? A fee sheet outlining all costs will be available May 1. The information will be posted in the ArtsFairfax website. In-house equipment such as pianos, risers, marley and projection equipment will be available to ArtsFairfax approved users at no cost but labor costs may apply to install and/or operate such equipment.

3. How do we set ticket prices? As the presenter, you establish your own ticket prices. There are certain fees which will be applied, which will be outlined on the fee sheet referenced above.

4. Could we share the event with another ArtsFairfax organization? Yes, but one organization will complete the application.

5. Does the Hall have Live Streaming capability, is the equipment available for community users and if so is there a charge? The Hall has Wi-Fi and will be fully accessible for live streaming. Please consult with Capital One Halls' operator for more information:

6. Where is the parking and what is the cost? There is a parking deck on-site at Capital One Center, located across the street from Capital One Hall. The parking fees have not been established yet but fees will be set in the coming months, hopefully by June 1.

7. My organization doesn't have non-profit status or isn't based in Fairfax, but we want to use the Hall. Who should I contact? Please contact Jamey Hines, General Manager of Capital One Hall by email at jhines@capitalonehall.com

8. What is the First Season Schedule? The schedule for the first season will be announced in May.

9. If a Fairfax County organization books the facility as a Public Facility User, can it collaborate with a non-Fairfax County organization or artist? Yes, but the License Agreement must be under the Fairfax County user's name.

10. What are in/out times for full day use? Typically 7am to 11pm but those times are flexible.

11. Is the full day fee charged for evening dress rehearsals on a weeknight, or is there a reduced rate? The Fairfax County rate cannot be reduced.

12. What is the audience seating capacity under COVID restrictions? We are presently booking for October, based upon a 100% capacity; 1562 for the Main Hall and 224 for the Vault. The Hall must adhere to the Commonwealth of Virginia's guidelines.

13. Were any special ventilation or UV systems put in place to prevent or reduce the spread of airborne viruses? The HVAC system doesn't include any special COVID ventilation or UV systems.

14. Can we use the atrium for a reception after the performance? If so, if there an additional cost? Yes and there is no additional cost to rent this space after your performance.

15. What is the rate for non-profit users outside the specially negotiated Fairfax user rate? The non profit will be $250.00 less than the published commercial rate which will be published by May 1.

1. Is the Perch amphitheater available to rent, and if so what is the rate? Yes, the amphitheater will be available to rent; details will follow closer to the opening.
